Aruba is the sunniest island in all of the Southern Caribbean, so it is not surprise that this drink looks like a sunset in a glass. Mixologist Josh Germain of the Tamarijn Aruba Resort shares this recipe for the Aruba Ariba.

They normally use coecoei liquor, which is only found in Aruba and derived from the sap of local agave plants, but have adapted the recipe so you can make it at home.

Ingredients

- 1 oz. Orange Juice
- 1 oz. Pineapple Juice
- 1 oz. Vodka, such as Tito's
- 1/2 oz. Light Rum
- 1/2 oz. Dark Rum
- 1/2 oz. Banana Liqueur
- Splash Grenadine
- Dark Grand Marnier

Instructions

1. Fill a shaker with ice.
2. Place all ingredients except grenadine and Grand Marnier into shaker and shake.
3. Pour cocktail into tall glass over ice.
4. Float grenadine and Grand Marnier on top.
